

2nd Annual Earth Day In GJ 2009!

In the spirit of what Earth Day has come to represent since its inception: stewardship of the earth, respect for living beings, and consciousness of the state of our environment, High Noon Solar is spearheading the Earth Day in GJ event for the second year in a row!

Our goal for the event includes creating an open environment for all sections of our culture to learn ecologically conscious choices. We will be inviting green businesses, nonprofits, and local artisans & performers to set up for the event and inform the public about green, environmentally sound choices for their lives or to simply sell locally made products. Please fill out this sheet and return to the address below if your business or nonprofit would like to participate in the event.

When: April 18th, 2009 Saturday, 11am- 5pm

Where: Mesa County Fairgrounds

Cost: $20 to cover cost of rental space. Nonprofits are free.

What is included & what to bring: 6' or 8' table will be provided, in addition to 2 folding chairs per table (Porta Potties will be on site) -- bring an Easy-Up

Deadline: Sign up by April 6th, 2009 – We need to have application & check in hand by this date in order to keep a booth space reserved.
